Updates
- MBLC—James Lonergan
  State budget is now in conference committee; House and Senate are proposing different numbers for state aid. We are also hoping for a bump for Center for the Book. Ideally should have an end of June budget. New statewide databases start on July 1st; contact MBLC if you have questions.
- MLS—Sarah Sogigan
  Don’t worry about rising fuel costs and its effect on delivery—it is locked into the contract.
- IF/SRC—Andrea Fiorillo
  - Introducing Susan Caulfield from Newton Free as the new co-chair.
  - Republican Secretary of State candidate Rayla Campbell is attacking schools and libraries very vocally on their LBGTQ+ displays and is particularly focused on the book Gender Queer. IF/SRC sent out helpful links for dealing with this situation.
  - Everyone from staff through trustees need to have some preparation. MBLC has deep dive trainings on intellectual freedom for the trustees coming up next week.
  - Be aware of misinformation being circulated about particular drag queens to try and stop libraries or towns having a Drag Queen Story Time.
  - Statement will be crafted by MLA. Discussion around maybe having a statement for libraries to use if they are contacted by reporters and have it contain talking points. Advice to avoid going toe to toe about a specific title or item. Remember that us providing materials is a first amendment right.
• Program Planners—Meena Jain
  Donation button is on the website to donate to the fund to give scholarships to students for memberships and/or conference attendance. If you’d like to donate to it, you can click on the donate button on their page.

• Legislative—Will Adamczyk
  House Bill on e-books has been sent to study, which means it is dead for the year, but it hasn’t been outright killed, so it can be picked back up next year. Budget situation: prepping a message to go out next week that will be for us to send to our legislators.
